

Members, their spouses, children, and guests are requested to use good judgment at all times with regard to what constitutes proper dress at Westwood. Westwood is a fine country club with a tradition of grace and decorum. While this rule attempts to set guidelines, the best rule is to be sensitive to the fact that we share our Club with our fellow members and their guests. If you are in doubt about wearing an article of clothing, please err on the side of caution. Persons who, in the opinion of the Club's staff, are dressed inappropriately will be asked to change their attire before returning to the Club. Members are responsible for their children's and their guests' adherence to these Rules.

The following are Rules for the Pub and the main Clubhouse:
